June 12 for the 2012 Spokane Braille Rally!

Lighthouse for the Blind

The rain on Saturday, June 9th could not dampen the spirits of the 16 drivers and navigators who participated in the 2012 Spokane Braille Rally. After a beautiful rendition of the National Anthem by Andrea Godard and a rousing "Call To Position" by Spokane Mayor David Condon (check out the podcast below for audio), the rally teams drove a competitive 53-mile course through the Spokane area, starting and ending at Inland Northwest Lighthouse. The teams consisted of a sighted driver and a blind or visually impaired navigator, who read the course directions in braille.

Spokane Braille Rally shared a link via The Lighthouse for the Blind, Inc.

The 2012 Spokane Braille Rally was a winner! This fun and exciting fundraiser inspired over $15,000 in donations in support of making jobs accessible to over 50 blind and visually impaired employees at INL. You can listen to an audio recording of the speakers from the event at the link below.

A Few Country Remedies:

- If you hate grease under your fingernails from working on engines, scrape your fingernails on a bar of soap before beginning..
the greasy work...
  - Here's an Rx for rust in the garage or the toolshed. Apply iodine to nuts or bolts, wait a few minutes, then apply more if necessary. Wait 15 minutes longer before loosening...
  - It's easy to read a rain gauge if you put a few drops of food coloring into the tube. Even if the color water dries up, there is.. enough residue to help read the next rainfall...
  - Put a bit of petroleum jelly on the base of a light bulb before turning it into an outside light fixture. This will make it easier to..
remove when it burns out..
